Enriching the "Golden Years" with community activities and hobbies, George D. Young and his wife, Olivia, are contributing to the cultural life of Carmel.

Olivia teaches poetry in Sunset Evening School. As an active member of the California Writers' Club and the Chaparral Poets of California, Olivia has published verse in numerous magazines including Good Housekeeping and The Christian Science Monitor. Her poems have won many prizes.

George Young taught free-hand drawing and advanced cabinet shop for 22 years in Oakland high schools. The boys in his shop learned more than how to handle the saw and hammer. Young gave his boys some of his own formula for successful life. Music was a part of it. George sang with the Orpheus Club for 22 years.

He says: "Mrs. Young and I sang and played and directed church choirs for many years at the same time we were bringing up our own brood of six children."

Incidentally, these six "little Youngs" all turned out well.

Now that the "Golden Years" are here, the Youngs find no use for the word "retire" in their vocabulary. Having recently purchased the Burke home in Carmel, they are remodeling with a "Do-it-yourself" zeal and suiting their own tastes in decor.

One room is a dark room where Olivia develops photos. She has exhibited these photographs in the Carmel Foundation Town House and in the Monterey Public Library. Olivia's pictures won prizes in the Padre Trails Camera Club exhibits.

In her study is a desk, designed and built by her cabinet-teacher-artist husband. Here Olivia writes the modern poetry which she teaches and sells.

Another room is George's painting studio. Studying with Abel Warshawsky, George Young is now doing professional work in oil. He also makes his own frames. He has exhibited his pictures in Auburn and Sacramento.

And now he's indulging a new interest, three-dimensional dioramas.

Against a background of naturally preserved grasses and shrubbery, George has placed, singly and in groups, life-like animals and birds. Bears, horses and sea gulls stand out of his pictures seemingly alive. Natural scenery backgrounds add to the illusion of realism.

During the month of May, these dioramas will be on exhibit at the Carmel Foundation Town House.

Two Singers, Trumpet Players For Symphony In Final Concert

Soloists with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra on Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium will be two local singers, Jean Canada, mezzo-soprano and Jocelyn Chilton Perry, coloratura soprano; and trumpet players Edward Haug, who comes to Carmel from San Francisco each week to play in the Symphony under director Gregory Millar, and Peninsula resident, Terry McCormack.

Mrs. Canada and Mrs. Perry are winners of Symphony auditions held in Carmel to discover local artists of exceptional talent to appear in the last concert of the 1956-57 County Symphony season.

Jocelyn Perry who will sing arias by Verdi and Mozart, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Chilton of Carmel and the sister of Mrs. Cecil Lausten. She has appeared frequently in concerts in Los Angeles and San Francisco and was guest soloist with the Chico State Symphony on Wednesday. She received her musical training in New York and San Francisco. Next month Jocelyn Perry goes to New York for special work preparatory to making her opera debut.

Mrs. Perry is the wife of Lieut. Commander Arthur M. Perry, recently returned from a tour of duty in the Philippines, presently stationed in South San Francisco.

Les Laky Carmel's Mayor For Tuesday

Elections at Carmel High School yesterday decided that Les Laky will be Carmel's mayor for Youth in Government Day next Tuesday. Students elected councilmen are Churchill Carmalt, Carey Edson, Shirley Flint and Lucinda Lloyd. Janet Fehring will take Larry Rose's place as city clerk. Owen Kearns is to be fire chief. Clyde Klaumann will handle his father's job as chief of police. George Blanks is building inspector and Ina Adams, tax and license collector, and street commissioner is David Vincent.

Youth in Government Day will begin for the student Police Chief, Fire Chief, Street Superintendent, Tax and License Collector, and City Clerk at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning when they report to their various headquarters for an hour's indoctrination, then spend the rest of the morning learning about equipment and performing daily duties of each office.

At 10:30 o'clock the student Building Inspector and City Attorney report for work. The Build-

Lucie Mawdsley Hurt In Auto Accident En Route To Petra

Palma de Mallorca
Baleares - Espana
Wed., April 24, 1957

Dear Wilma and Cliff:

Greetings again from the wanderers in Spain. By present plans we should get back to London by May 11. But we are unexpectedly detained here till May 7, because Lucie suffered a fracture of the left clavicle ten days ago in an auto accident. Shall we ever forget our visit to Petra, the birthplace of Frey Junipero Serra. For it was on a trip there that the accident happened. Four of us in a hired Ford Sedan with a driver

Sport Car Race Track Proposed For Highlands

Carmel Highlands Association members viewed with alarm last night the proposal presented to them by Fred Porter to construct a sports car cross country race track above the Highlands on property owned by Porter and his partner Robert Ashmun.

"I'll spend my last dollar fighting it," said Dr. R. A. Kocher, unofficially stating the sentiments of those present at the meeting.

Mr. Porter and his partner own the former Carmel Development Company land extending from the upper part of the Highlands over the hilltops to the borders of the Fish Ranch.

Approach to the proposed race track would be up Corona Road from Highway 1, to the summit of the hills with a new return road to the highway cut along Wildcat Canyon, said Mr. Porter.

"A maximum of 60 cars would use the race track two or three times a year, with a possible 5,000 spectators," he added.

He proposed constructing a building to serve food to those attending the races and emphasized the superiority of spectators and participants at such exclusive races.

No official action was taken by Highlands Association members with only Fritz Hartung, manager of Highlands Inn speaking in favor of the project, but a universal cool atmosphere pervaded the Fire House at the meeting.

Compromise On Gross Over $100,000 Costs Carmel City $7,000

The Carmel City Council, meeting in special session last night to complete first reading of the new business license ordinance, had not one cross word for one another, nor were there any complaints from the citizens in the audience.

There wasn't anything to fight over.

The hotelmen had been mollified in a committee meeting with councilmen and city officials, and are content to accept the $5.00 per room tax. A revised schedule of license fees on gross receipts over $1000,000 with a top fee of $400, worked out since last week's meeting, has the approval of the grocers, and J. O. Handley. Aside from a few questions as to how the truck licensing formula would work, proceedings were peaceful and monotonous.

The fees for gross receipts over $100,000 will be:

Over $100,000 but not over $200,000, the tax shall be $100.00, plus $12.00 for each entire $20,000 in excess of $100,000.

Over $200,000 but not over $300,000, the tax shall be $160.00, plus $8.00 for each entire $20,000 in excess of $200,000.

Over $300,000 but not over $600,000, the tax shall be $200.00, plus $4.00 for each entire $20,000 in excess of $300,000.

Over $600,000 the tax shall be $260.00, plus $2.00 for each entire $20,000 in excess of $600,000, with a maximum tax assessed under this section to in no event exceed $400.00 as to any one assessment.

Trucks making deliveries in Carmel as often as once a week will have to pay $10.00 per year to $45.00, depending on tonnage.

This does not apply to trucks of Carmel business establishments used for delivery purposes.

License fees have been raised to $50 for professional people, in line with the doubling of most fixed licenses.

Anticipated increase of revenue from business licenses under the new ordinance will be between $7500 and $8,000. The ordinance as originally written would have realized around $15,000. The drastic scaling down of fees for gross over $100,000 accounts for the difference.

TED FEHRING, HEALEY UP FOR ELECTION FRIDAY

Bars will be closed and polls open 7:00 to 7:00 o'clock tomorrow when Carmel Unified School District votes at Sunset School for Ted Fehring for school trustee.

Mr. Fehring is running uncontested, as is Herbert C. Healey, county board of education member at large, seeking re-election.

C-2 Owners Protest Land Use Ratio In Interim Ordinance

Property owners in C-2 (commercial service) zone protested the interim ordinance amendment restricting C-2 dwelling construction at the Planning Commission public hearing yesterday afternoon through their attorney Thomas K. Perry. No one from C-1 (business) district except Frank Murphy, appeared to state an opinion on the amendment which also governs dwelling construction in this zone and establishes front setbacks in both areas.

Uneconomic building demands in the commercial zones would prohibit multiple housing construction in C-2 and transients would become "guests" in permitted private residences, said Perry. The ratio per unit of 600 square feet of dwelling to 1,000 square feet of land with 400 square feet devoted to offstreet parking and landscaping restricting C-1 and C-2 multiple housing, meant motels could not be built economically in these zones. He asked the Planning Commission to consider multiple dwellings of 350-450 square feet per unit.

Frank Murphy supporting Perry's statement said that on his 26,400 square feet of property extending from Mission Street through to San Carlos Street in C-1 zone, only 24 units could be built under the proposed amendment. This number of units was not economically feasible, he felt.

"No buyer would pay what the property is worth," he continued, "and we have owned this land for years."

Charles Schulz, owner of the former Bettie Greene Stables property said he had been unable to

CARMEL TRACK STARS SET SCHOOL RECORDS

Although the small Carmel High track squad was no match for the big schools in Monday afternoon's CCAL finals, the Padres enjoyed some good moments as two of the red and grey performers reached the first-place position on the victory stand. Phil White, sophomore pole-vaulter, topped all the CCAL vaulters with his best-ever mark of 11-3. Not only did the husky sophomore show the way to the league vaulters, but he established a new Carmel High School record. Muscular Don Petty, 150-pound senior shot put artist, picked up the other blue ribbon for the Carmel squad, tossing the iron ball over 52 feet to set a new school record and beat the best in the CCAL. Don's winning toss was made in last Wednesday's trials but held up for the first place in Monday's finals. White and Petty now move into the North Coast Section trials which will be held at Los Gatos this Saturday.

CHARLIE SWIMS FOR MPC

Charles Baird, Carmel, MPC freshman, has proved himself a competent swimmer this spring. He placed third in the 100-yard breast stroke, sixth in the 200-yard breast stroke, and was a member of the fourth place medley relay team in the recent (April 26) Lobo competition in the Northern California JC swim meet held at Sacramento.

JOHN HAS LONE WIN

John Herbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Herbert of Carmel, recently competed in the final round of the Coast Conference JC tennis matches. He played as a member of the MPC Lobo tennis team, which was eliminated in the first rounds of the meet.

Herbert teamed up with Bob Baker to take the lone MPC win of the meet by eliminating East Contra Costa's doubles entrants. He and Baker were then eliminated in turn by Menlo, the team which won the tournament's doubles trophy.

GONZALES HIGH NINE AT CARMEL FRIDAY

Coach Bud Guiterrez brings his speedy Gonzales High baseball squad to Carmel Friday afternoon in hopes of repeating an early season victory registered on the Spartan diamond. The valley nine clipped the Padres, 4 to 3, in the first game, virtually stealing the game with daring base running and deft employment of the bunt. It has been six years since Gonzales has won a game from Carmel on the local diamond and the Padres would just as soon keep it that way. Tomorrow's league game will match two of the top pitchers in the B division when Lou Palacio, ace Spartan righthander, tangles with Carmel's Tim O'Shea. In recent games, O'Shea has shown more stuff than any pitcher in the league and as captain of the Padre nine would like to close out the season against Gonzales with a victory.

Carmel will go with a starting nine of Joe Mason behind the plate, O'Shea pitching, Charley Dawson at first base, Andy Gray at second, Walt Helm at the hot corner, Ronnie Faia at shortstop, and a flychasing corps of Dale Dawson, Dennis Peavey, and Mal Burdis.

LITTLE LEAGUE STANDINGS

Pilot Market	3	2
San Carlos Agency	3	2
Sport Shop	2	3
Boys Town	2	3

The third week of play in the Carmel Little League finds the San Carlos Agency and Pilot Market tied for the league lead with 3-2 records. Play in the popular little circuit is so close that a team can be on top one week and drop to the bottom the next. Pilot Market is currently the hottest team in the league, riding a three-game streak and moving from the cellar to the top. In their last outing the Market lads clipped the Sport Shop, 5 to 3, as David Cox tossed a nifty four-hitter at Lew McCreery's charges. Stan Cummings swung the big stick for Pilot's squad, connecting for two hits and scoring twice.

Jack Miller's San Carlos Agency gang continues to play steady ball and is the most feared team in the league. Tuesday evening, San Carlos took the measure of Boys Town, 8 to 1, and moved into a deadlock for first place. Danny Holman pitched a classy two-hitter in nailing the win for San Carlos while Dick Hubbell pounded out a pair of doubles to pace the batters.

Tonight at 6:00 o'clock, Pilot Market tangles with Boys Town and play continues next Monday with Sport Shop and Boys Town squaring off to start the fourth week of play.

Farm teams of the Little League are playing a full schedule of Saturday games with the Dr. Pepper club showing the way at this point. Last Saturday the Pepper lads edged Richardson - Aitken while Wilder & Jones was gaining the nod over Nikko's. Play continues this Saturday with Wilder & Jones playing Dr. Pepper and Nikko's testing Richardson - Aitken.

CIRCLING THE BASES

Henry Overin, Carmel's only professional baseball player, is finding out why baseball pros don't bother to unpack their bags. The popular lefty is again on the move, getting a transfer from Colorado Springs of the Western League to Stockton of the California State League. Overin started the season with Vancouver but was shipped to Colorado Springs at the end of spring training. Peninsula baseball fans will have an opportunity to see Overin in action when the Stockton Ports visit the Salinas Packer stadium on May 21, 22 and 23. . . .

Carmel's class A softball team, the Carmel Merchants, hung up a coveted victory over the Monterey Rasmussen and Moody nine in its last outing at Sunset Field. The Merchants behind the stellar pitching of little Johnny DeAmaral shut out the sporting goods gang, 2 to 0, and established themselves as favorites to cop the A-division section of the Pacific Grove tournament. . . . .

The cozy Little League baseball park just below the Mission has been an inviting target for home run hitters in the popular kid circuit. Homers have been boomed over the short fences by six little sprouts with David Harber connecting for three and Ron Jella for two. Forest Cornwall, Joe Sponsler, Bob Bauman, and Stan Cummings have also cleared the round-trippers. Most damaging home run of them all was Stan Cummings' grand slam which produced a victory for his team. . . .

A porous infield with a prodigious ability to manufacture errors, betrayed some fine pitching in Carmel High's last two outings against Hollister and Watsonville. Against the Haybalers, Tim O'Shea pitched one-hit ball until the sixth inning and the Padres were behind, 10 to 1. Six infield miscues interspersed with a few walks were the big items going for Hollister. At Watsonville Monday afternoon, Parker Pollock and O'Shea collaborated to throw a four-hitter at the Wildcats only to drop a 6-5 decision in an extra-inning game as the Padre infield bobbled 7 chances. . . .

Cricket, the British version of baseball, returns to the Carmel High field Sunday afternoon when the Golden Gate Club of San Francisco matches wickets with the Del Monte Club of Carmel. Alex Merivale, hustling secretary of the Del Monte Club, has banded together a solid squad for this season's play and figures to make a good run for the Price Cup championships.

WATER

The Most Important Thing In Life

The basic need for life on earth is that water be available. And from this necessity was born the greatest single industry in this country—public water supply. Nothing short of a complete catastrophe can deprive the Monterey Peninsula of an ample supply of water. Although many other communities this summer will be faced with the possibility of a water shortage, the Peninsula does not have this anxiety.

Few communities are as fortunate in respect to the dependability of water supplies as those on the Monterey Peninsula. No price can be set on this wealth of water.

Mary Lindsay-Oliver Grateful For Help In Symphony Recital

Miss Mary Lindsay-Oliver, whose recital of compositions was so successfully given recently at the Nix Studio-Theatre for benefit of the Monterey Peninsula Symphony Orchestra wishes to express through the Pine Cone her gratitude for the artistic assistance given this event by Conductor Gregory Millar's singing of some of her songs with Roslyn Frantz accompanying; for the violin, 'cello and clarinet parts performed by Helen Shutes, Carol Marsh and Jay Stock; also for the free use of the auditorium by Dudley Nix and charge of the box-office by Mrs. Edgar Bissantz; the publicity given by the newspapers; display of posters by commercial houses; ticket sales at the Graham, Browse-Around and Abinante Music Houses and Dyke Pharmacy. Immeasureable helpfulness came from Mrs. Jeanie Klenke and some of the Lindsay-Oliver pupils: Valerie Hattery, Joyce Bishop, David and Jo-Ann Schoenbrod, Richard Turner and DeNeale Morgan, when Michael MacKay was unable to proceed with the management owing to duties at the Golden Bough.

With the crowded events of the moment the audience proved a good and representative one, and supplied, cleared of expenses, $100 toward the Symphony Fund.

WAC To Present Free Movie On Africa Fri.

Report From Africa, a movie produced by Edward R. Murrow in 1956, will be shown by the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula and the Carmel Adult School at 8:00 o'clock tomorrow night in Carmel High School cafeteria. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

Included in the picture are interviews with confessed Mau Mau; the Minister of Native Affairs of South Africa; Alan Payton; native chief Lithuli; and many small people caught in the tragedy of rebellion or government policy.

The Gold Coast is shown in one part of the movie as well as Liberia, Kenya, the Belgian Congo, the Rhodesias and South Africa. The second part of the film deals with Morocco, Libya, Algeria and several other nations with emphasis on the Arab-French controversy.

The two sections of Report From Africa have been given over CBS-TV and the New York Times reviewed them as "diverting, fascinating, and highly informative.

SECOND RABIES CASE IN MONTEREY COUNTY

Dr. Myron W. Husband, Monterey County Director of Public Health, announces a second animal rabies case has occurred in Castroville. A second dog that had bitten a child was found to be rabid.

This second rabies case in the county emphasizes the seriousness of the situation, according to Dr. Husband, who declares a first class rabies epidemic can only be averted if residents undertake positive steps to prevent spreading of the rabies infection.

All animal bites must be reported promptly to the Health Department, regardless of how trivial, so that the animal which has done the biting may be placed under observation. Stray dogs should be reported to the County Pound.

Dr. Husband again urges the vaccination of all pets to provide a line of defense against rabies in wildlife. Vaccination also protects human beings, says Dr. Husband. The rabies problem can be controlled, he feels, with the assistance and cooperation of county residents.

X-RAY MOBILE HERE

The Mobile X-ray unit of the Monterey County Health Department will be parked near the Post Office from 1:00-5:00 o'clock on Monday afternoon for the convenience of Carmelites who wish to have their chests x-rayed free of charge. Postcards telling the results of the examination will be mailed to those examined after x-ray plates have been read by the Health Department.

Parade In Monterey Opens Armed Forces Day Celebration Sat.

Military installations on the Monterey Peninsula will hold open house for civilians Saturday in celebration of Armed Forces Day.

A parade of soldiers from Fort Ord will start in Monterey at 9:30 o'clock in the morning.

Exhibits of army equipment and material illustrative of soldier training will be housed in ten tents at the South Parade Field at Fort Ord. There will be a helicopter maneuverability demonstration. Visitors may have lunch in the mess halls of the Second and Eleventh Infantry Regiments at a nominal cost.

The Navy Air Facility and the Coast Guard in Monterey will also hold open house Saturday, but the Navy Postgraduate School will receive its company Friday afternoon and evening.

A destroyer-mine-layer will be Monterey Harbor and will welcome passengers aboard Saturday.

Power for Peace is the slogan for this year's Armed Forces Day.

Student Recitals At All Saints' Sunday

Recitals will be given in All Saints' Episcopal Church Parish Hall on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and 4:00 o'clock by pupils of members of the Monterey Branch of the California Music Teachers' Association. The programs are open to the public without charge.

Teachers presenting students are Margaret Aitkenhead, Mrs. Ralph Weston, Alice de Riemer, Mrs. Dorothy Goudge, Mrs. Marjory Freston, Mrs. James Lebeck, Harold Ralph, Dorothy Heer, Robert Forbes, Serge v. Leuchtenberg, Mrs. Lynn Swan and Mrs. Marvin Holman.

Jim Rowe Spends Shoeman's Holiday Looking At Shoes

A plane trip, made two weeks ago, took James Rowe, owner of Carmel's Village Shoe Tree, to St. Louis, Dallas, Tucson, El Paso and Juarez, Mexico. The journey, made primarily to attend the St. Louis shoe "market," also gave Mr. Rowe an opportunity to discuss business trends with leading retailers in all cities visited, and to inspect the largest and oldest shoe producing plant in the United States — the Johansen shoe factory in the St. Louis area.

His attendance of the St. Louis shoe "market," the country's largest wholesale showing of footwear styles to be available next fall and winter, gave Mr. Rowe a preview of what women will be wearing come autumn and winter. "Fall and winter shoes will emphasize an extremely pointed toe, a more high-style version of the pointed toes already available," Mr. Rowe reported. "Heels will become even higher and slimmer, and there will be stress on unusual shoe materials—Italian silks (specially processed for shoe use); broadtail and textured-type leathers, and shoe fabrics of a tweed and rough-surfaced effect, plus more imported materials."

Black will be the predominant shoe color for autumn and winter, with a new version of a very dark brown next in fashion importance, Mr. Rowe found. "There will be a strong come-back of open-toed shoes and sling pumps, and there is a lot of talk about grey shoes for the winter months," Mr. Rowe said.

While in the St. Louis area, the country's foremost shoe producing sector, Jim Rowe inspected the Johansen factory, the United States' largest footwear plant. The Johansen factory, founded in 1876, covers an entire city block, and has a daily output of over 5,000 pair of shoes. Johansen makes not only high-fashion footwear for women, but produces a major portion of the shoes purchased by the Government for armed forces personnel, and for distribution here and abroad through post exchanges. Four successive generations of the Johansen family have managed the plant since its founding almost a century ago. At St. Louis Mr. Rowe also went through the Paradise Kitten shoe factory, another plant producing shoes of national repute.

From St. Louis he flew to Dallas where he spent considerable time with friends and executives at the Neiman-Marcus store, acknowledged fashion center of the Southwest. "I was told that Dallas women are among the first to accept new style trends," said Mr. Rowe. "However, from my personal experience, I can say the same thing of the women on the Monterey Peninsula." At Tucson he also visited leading retailers and friends in the shoe merchandising field, and discovered in Arizona, as elsewhere in the Southwest, an awareness and receptivity to the new and unusual among both the buying public and leading retail establishments.

"Throughout both the Midwest and Southwest I found business conditions good," stated Mr. Rowe. "There is great emphasis now also upon the leadership and contribution made to fashion fields by American designers."

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

There are several new books this week for which we have had inquiries and requests. One is Two Worlds by Davis Daiches. It is a nostalgic account of the author's early years in Edinburgh, Scotland. Then for people who are interested in becoming realtors, we have at last the latest edition of the California Real Estate Manual. This one is double strength, in that we have one copy for circulating and another for the reference collections. And speaking of reference collections, that missing volume number twenty three of the Encyclopedia Americana is still missing.

What may prove to be a vital book filling a real need is the new book by Hannah Lees entitled Help Your Husband Stay Alive. The author believes that intelligent wives may be able to lower the alarming death rate among young men which seems to be influenced by the stress diseases. Certain it is that if reading this book might help a husband to live longer, such reading should be required at all weddings. It can do no harm to at least read it. Trying out the author's theories should make for happier marriages. And speaking of marriages, we have Good Housekeeping's Complete Wedding Guide. When Good Housekeeping says a book is complete, it is complete. This one seems to have the answers to all the questions, including the one which tells the bride what to do if the groom cannot afford an expensive engagement ring. And it has recipes for wedding-type food, such as cakes and lobster salad.

A valuable addition to any collection of Californiana is Oscar Lewis' Here Lived the Californians. This is description and discussion of one hundred old California houses, arranged historically rather than geographically. Of course several of the beautiful old adobes of Monterey County are included here, among them the First Theatre and the Old Whaling Station in Monterey.

Arthur Schlesinger is writing a series of four books under the general title of The Age of Roosevelt. Volume one bears the individual title The Crisis of the Old Order, and this first volume is now in the library and ready for circulation.

To answer frequent questions about selling goods by mail, we have a new book by Robert Stone entitled Successful Direct Mail Advertising and Selling. It's big enough to have all the answers and we hope that this is true.

There are eight new novels this week, including Stopover Tokyo, which is the new Mr. Moto story by J. P. Marquand. Marquand's Mr. Moto has a large and happy following. Also included this week is The Big War by Anton Myrer, of Monterey. This is more than a story about a war. It is the struggle of gentleness and compassion to somehow come through in a world torn by brutality and darkness.

We are now planning our summer reading program for the children, and we think that this year it is to be especially good. Mrs. Heisinger, the Children's Librarian, has planned it and worked it out from beginning to end, and done an excellent job of it. Be waiting to hear the details at a later date, and to enroll your children in the club when it gets going.

who could speak no English, driving too fast to make a turn onto a bridge and hit it! Lucie was in the back seat between a man and wife, and I was in front. Except that the man had a small bruise on his side we all escaped but Lucie and she got the broken collar bone. It was a Sunday, and we got an X-ray and bone setting on Monday morning, and a checkup X-ray a week later showed the setting to be good and no other damages, but she is strapped up so as to be unable to do more than stay about indoors until twenty days have elapsed.

As a result we have cancelled everything but a short stay in Paris enroute to England.

Saw Lew Snyder this morning and got some few items of news of Carmel. Hope you are both well and happy; but we don't get much word of you.

We are due to sail for home on June 27, from Glasgow, via the Canal, and hope to spend our last six weeks abroad in revisiting our relatives and friends in England.

Note of interest. At Serra's birthplace we saw a good picture (color photo) of Father O'Connell with President and Mrs. Eisenhower at Carmel Mission. Also a photo (in the Serra Room of Petra Church) of the unveiling of Jo Mora's Sarcophagus in 1927 which was very familiar to us as we were there at the Mission when it took place.

We got in several trips here before the accident and intended leaving on the following Wednesday (a week ago.)

We came here from the Island of Ibiza after travelling all thru Portugal and Spain, from Lisbon to Alicante.

We both send our kind regards to you and our friends and are looking forward to our return by the end of July.

Sincerely,

Lucie and Peter Mawdsley.

Peninsula Music, Drama

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

At the Wharf Theatre a benefit for the Carmel Parent Nursery School was given on Sunday by the Berkeley Chamber Singers, a group of six women and five men conducted by Donald Aird, before an audience of musical people who recognized the status of the group. Seldom does one hear so full a tone and such good diction in an a capella performance. Pitch, tempos and nuance carried their program off with a spirit of joy that brought forth enthusiasm. Starting with Bach's Singet dem Herrn, unusually interesting choral numbers included those of Victoria, Byrd, Weelkes and Le Jeun in place of printed numbers which were rounded out by two songs of Mreley's, and Gibbon, and six songs by Hindemith.

The good voices of the entire chorus were particularly well balanced throughout under Aird's inspiring and artistic direction, and we hope to hear these singers again. To David Shoenbrod goes credit for the cover design for the program.

Summer and Smoke by Tennessee Williams, the current play at the Forest Theatre Guild directed by Cole Weston with a staff of nine including Floyd Adams, producer, and Jack James, stage manager, and settings by Erica Franke, is excellently cast and acted. Its characters of both violent and gentler mien forcefully portray their striking contrasts with power and intensity, and that is proof of much talent. Valerie Furlong as the long-suffering heroine in her father's rectory seemed, up to the last scene, to be the only decent and upright character in a set of mostly degenerate Southerners; but after influencing for good the man she loves and whom he cannot help respecting, she is shown falling as others have fallen when he turns to marry her flippant singing pupil. The letdown is disappointing, as that instead of the play leaving a triumph of better intention as transcending the problem, the continuance of its looseness and frustrations is indicated as accepted social order! Such plays (and novels) today seem to attract a certain so-called sophisticated public, while their writers miss their great opportunity to bring out helpful psychological points to uplift instead of degrading humanity by pandering to its lowest levels without any redeeming objective, leaving a bad taste in the mouth. So much for Tennessee Williams who certainly is no Shakespeare!

Much praise, however, is due the cast which includes Robert Martinson in co-leads with Valerie Furlong, Alan Van Huys, Joan McKinnoy, Jane Yarborough, Caryl Thomas, Gracecarol Bostwick, Ernest Fries, Toni Field, Mel Murphy, Tom Drewek, Jack James, Sam Karas and Archie Kramer. Clever construction of the stage to present three different settings at the same time shows great resourcefulness in so small a space. We hope the Guild can give us a cleaner play for the next!

The Kingdom of God, a play by G. Martinez Sierra, was charmingly acted by pupils of the Santa Catalina School for Girls and will be repeated this Friday. Produced by Charlotte Perry, it is another result of her exceptional work in dramatics with young people, as we witnessed last Christmas at the Golden Bough. The confidence given them by their director produced that spontaneity and independence only children seem easily to achieve, while all of them appeared thoroughly to enjoy the experience. The play shows up the effects of love and compassion against cruelty and hate, when grownups as well as children become agitated to ungovernable obstreperousness. It happens in a home for old people and orphans tended by Sisters of Mercy, one of whom, Sister Gracia, played by Mary Baumgartner, is able with her firm quietness to bring peace and order into the confusion, convincing them that love will do what hate cannot. The characters are too numerous to name, and are varied and vital, with many of the girls acting as men and boys, besides tall Edgar Bissantz as father of the girl who elects to join the order to devote herself to deeds of mercy and kindness. Nine of the girls from the Chorus directed by Angie Machado were heard singing off stage, and the large audience present in the assembly hall of the School testified to a wide interest.

Marian Boke Todd

Mrs. Marian Boke Todd died on Friday night in her sleep. She had been under a doctor's care, because of a heart condition, for some time but her death was unexpected. She was born in San Rafael on August 3, 1897.

Mrs. Todd had been executive secretary of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest for the past 11 years and a member of the administrative staff for 18 years.

She was a gifted amateur actress and appeared in numerous peninsula theatrical performances during the past 50 years, first showing her dramatic talent as a child in early Forest Theatre plays.

Mrs. Marian Todd came to Carmel in 1907 when her father, the late Professor George Boke, Dean of the Law School at the University of California, brought his family here from Berkeley for summer vacations. He built a house in 1910 at the corner of Santa Lucia and Dolores Streets which became the Boke family home after his retirement. Mrs. Todd lived in this house with her mother, Mrs. Grace L. Boke, who survives her.

She is also survived by her son, John Todd of Lafayette; her brother, Richard L. Boke of Louisville, Kentucky; and a granddaughter, Nancy Ann Todd of Lafayette.

Private funeral services were held on Monday in the Little Chapel - by - the-Sea Crematorium. Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Those wishing to make contributions in memory of Mrs. Todd are asked to do so in the form of donations to the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,

THE WILDERNESS BILL

A recent editorial in the San Francisco Chronicle, entitled, The Wilderness and the Future, gave unqualified support to a bill (S. 1176) introduced in the Senate by Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and others, and a corresponding bill introduced in the House by Representative John Saylor of Pennsylvania and others. The sponsorship of the bill is bipartisan and coast-to-coast.

This bill, known as the National Wilderness Preservation System Bill, is high on the agenda of most conservation organizations of the country. Because it is not as simple as some bills, many newspapers and business organizations have failed to understand it and have expressed much opposition.

Stated as simply as possible, it is a bill that will preserve the status quo of the various officially designated wilderness areas of the country by congressional act. At present they are protected only by the administrative authority of the Secretaries of Agriculture and of the Interior. There is nothing in the Federal Statutes that would prevent any or all of these areas from being thrown open to commercial development if pressure on these two Secretaries should be strong enough to persuade them to take such action.

As an example, the Secretary of Agriculture, a few months ago, announced a decision to withdraw 53,000 acres from the Three Sisters Wilderness Area of Oregon, which would, of course, open it to logging. Although this action followed the usual course of holding a public hearing, during which the conservation groups opposing the action were greatly in the majority, nevertheless the Chief of the U. S. Forest Service recommended to the Secretary of Agriculture that his proposal should be put into effect. Thereupon the Secretary issued an order to that effect and the people of the United States have now lost forever some of America's finest scenic wilderness.

The new bill would make it necessary to route such action through congressional legislation. It would not, however, as so many of its opponents who have not thoroughly understood it are saying, "lock up" our natural resources irretrievably in these wilderness areas. As the editorial in the San Francisco Chronicle stated:

"The bills before Congress offer truly sound wilderness protection. If overriding national needs arise for dams or timber or minerals in the Wilderness System, Congress can always unlock any areas it chooses. But until such time, the force of statute will provide real protection for a badly threatened portion of America."

The National Park Service recently issued an excellent statement on wilderness, pointing out that "the quality of wilderness is a distinctive and most essential attribute of a scenic national park." Even here, however, there is always the danger that development, spurred on by demands of the local commercial interests, will go too far. The Wilderness Bill, too long to be explained in detail in this column, is intended to take care of such situations. It is a safeguard for the American people against a too rapid melting away of our heritage of primeval forest and mountain.

Legion Auxiliary To Celebrate Poppy Day May 24th And 25th

Friday and Saturday of next week poppies, made by patients of the Veteran's Mental Hospital in Palo Alto, will be sold to the public in memory of the war dead by the American Legion Auxiliary.

The poppy sales of the American Legion Auxiliary enable the public to contribute to causes sponsored by the group.

Funds derived from the poppy sales are used to support Rehabilitation and Child Welfare programs.

THOSE OTHER FIELDS
by Alice W. Askew

In Flander's fields 'twas long ago
Where in the mud and battle strife,
A soldier saw among the dead
The poppies blooming pure and red
In memory.
And when the spring had come again,
The poppies bloomed for him who said,
"We shall not sleep, if this our faith ye do not keep,
In memory".
Beneath the jungle, on the sea, in Anzio,
In Normandy, on strange Pacific isles,
The phantom poppies bloom as red
As those that grow for Flander's dead
In memory.
Forget not, lest we break the faith
We pledged to our beloved dead,
And may the larks forever sing
To poppies blooming in the spring,
In memory.

Reeds Home From South Seas

"Just perfect" is Mrs. Charles S. Reed's description of the seven weeks' trip which she and Mr. Reed took to the Southern Hemisphere. They left San Francisco on the Mariposa on March 23 and made the ship their headquarters during visits to Hawaii, Tahiti, Wellington and Auckland, New Zealand; Sydney, Australia; Fiji and Samoa; returning to Carmel last week.

Next week Mr. and Mrs. Reed leave again by train for Minnesota to attend their son Michael's graduation from Faribault School. On the way they will stop at Banff and Lake Louise and expect to be back in Carmel the middle of June.

"We left Mrs. Cannon and Mrs. Withycombe in Australia," reports Mrs. Reed, "they were going to Tasmania and should be back in Carmel in three weeks' time," referring to Carmelites Mrs. A. M. Cannon and Mrs. Ilda Withycombe who sailed on the Mariposa with the Reeds.

Col. Graham to Talk to MPSC

Stamps and covers went under the auctioneer's hammer of Frederick Smith Houston of Del Rey Oaks at the last meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club held in the Carmel High School.

All present enjoyed the auction and stated that Fred Houston is not only an expert philatelist and detective but also a successful auctioneer.

Colonel John R. Wright, president, awarded door prizes to L. S. Stallings, first, and Fred Houston, second.

The next meeting will be a trading and program meeting to be held in the Carmel High School on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Colonel William B. Graham, program chairman, announces that, in addition to the stamp trading, he will give a short talk on Philippine and Japanese Relations Incident to Present Conditions.

Colonel Graham served with the U. S. Army in the Philippines for ten years starting in 1899.

All stamp collectors and their friends on the Monterey Peninsula are invited to attend these informal meetings. Come and swap stamps and ideas.

Roundup on San Carlos

Forty persons were invited to watch this season's last roundup on Rancho San Carlos on Sunday. Cattle were gathered for four days and taken to the Mesa where the roundup crew camped out with Frank DeAmaral as cook. Frank also displayed unexcelled outdoor cooking talents for Sunday's guests. Invited to help the ranch crew as riders under Manager George King's guidance were Judge Ray Baugh, Sheriff Jack McCoy, Bobbie Trenner, Gordon Reed, Jack Davenport, Don MacKenzie, Bill and Will Askew, Bud Nicholson, Frank Young, Fritz Striek, Gunnar Martenson, Ed Barnes and Ky Miyamoto.

Genia Dances

Genia Beattie, a senior at Pomona College, is dancing in the modern dance program being given by the college in Claremont tomorrow night. Students have also done the choreography for the performance which has four parts. Jazz interpretations will be portrayed in Color Suite. Newspaper advertisements will be dramatized in Classified. Misirlou is based on Greek folk dances and the last number, Pre-Classical Suite, will feature controlled presentations of mood. Genia is the daughter of Mrs. Douglas Beattie.

Local Poets Win Honors

Mrs. Olivia (George) Young returned to Carmel on Sunday from Los Angeles where she attended the eighteenth annual convention of the California Federation of Chaparral Poets held in the Catholic Women's Club on Saturday.

The poetry contests at the convention consisted of three high school and seven adult contests open to writers throughout the state of California.

Mrs. Young won honorable mention in the California category with her poem Not Even Death. Also in this category, Mrs. Betty Norris won honorable mention with a poem entitled Certitude.

In the American Heritage category, Mrs. Laura Larson won honorable mention with her poem America is a Coral Reef. Mrs. Larson's verses picture America as a country between two seas.

Readers of the poems were chosen from actors and professional readers. Judges were TV experts.

Mrs. Norris and Mrs. Larson are members of Mrs. Young's poetry class which meets each Monday in Sunset School. The local branch of the Chaparral Poets is the Arena Blanca (White Sand) which holds monthly meetings on the Monterey Peninsula. Anyone interested in attending may call MA 4-7397.

The Carmel Poetry Class has compiled an anthology of verse written by members of the class during the year. This will be published locally next week.

Frank Bourman Conducts Ballet

Frank Bourman is conducting classes of the Monterey Peninsula Civic Ballet Company in preparation for two performances to be given in June.

Detroits In Washington, D.C.

Adele and Lance Detroit, off travelling in their golden trailer since last fall, send word that they are spending three weeks in Washington, D.C. before touring the New England States and Eastern Canada for a month. Then they travel west to Minnesota, stopping in Chicago, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and Minneapolis. They expect to be back in California in October.

They spent the winter in Florida visiting both the East and West Coasts, and preferred the West Coast as the climate is warmer and swimming in Gulf of Mexico water is warm and enjoyable all winter.

The Detroits saw the Dodgers, Yankees and Phillies play while the big league baseball clubs were in training in Florida. Adele and Lance also attended the Florida State Fair in Tampa and the horse races at Sunshine Park nearby.

"It will be good to get back though," writes Adele, "I like California best."

Carmel Eagle Scouts Honored

Eagle Scouts George S. Quick, Gordon Douglas, Mike Raggett and Parker Pollock attended the dinner at Fort Ord Golf Clubhouse last Thursday night honoring scouts in this area who attained the rank of Eagle Scout during the past 12 months. Each Eagle was sponsored by an adult citizen of his community.

Brigadier General John D. F. Phillips of Fort Ord was the principal speaker. He was introduced by Robert E. Ross of Carmel, dinner chairman and chairman of Monterey Boy Area Boy Scout Council's advancement committee.

Berkeley Singers Weekend Here

The Berkeley Chamber singers, who appeared in concert last Sunday afternoon at the Wharf Theatre as a fund raising event for the Carmel Parent Cooperative Nursery School, spent the weekend at Carmel Highlands in Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams' guest house. On Saturday evening 16 parents of pupils in the school and Director Rosa Doner gave an informal dinner for the singers on the sundeck of the William's guest house which overlooks Gibson Cove and Bird Rock at Point Lobos.

Philip Coniglio cooked an enormous ham for the party with other parents bringing suitable side dishes. Spontaneous singing, after supper, outdoors on the deck, with the ocean glimmering in moonlight between tall pines is a fond memory of all those present.

The concert next afternoon arranged by parents Mrs. Philip Coniglio and Mrs. Jack Miller, raised $140 for the Nursery School.

construct an apartment and stores building on the land due to the restrictions.

"It was not economically feasible to live up to the proposed ordinance."

Thomas K. Perry also asked Planning Commissioners to "give an incentive" to C-2 property owners who place parking underground or under cover. He suggested a direct ratio basis be established in this respect giving the property owner more dwelling for the cars not parked on open ground space.

Economic aspects of C-2 types of construction in regard to business licenses should be considered by the Commission Perry pointed out.

In answer to Perry's statement that transients would be forced into residence zone guest houses, Commissioner Herbert Blanks felt lack of available land for multiple dwelling construction in C-1 and C-2 would cause this "to come to pass anyway."

"Let's put it off as long as possible," countered Perry, "perhaps definitely."

Later, in study session, Planning Commissioners decided to consider C-2 property owners demands in committee and indicated they might change the proposed ordinance amendment giving an incentive to off-surface parking and possible reduction of land per unit.

The Time Has Come.

by Kippy Stuart

So . . . you received some beautiful blooming plants for Easter. They are now gracing your living room, filling it with color. But, what are you going to do with these plants when their blooming period is over? Their survival depends upon two factors; which plants came from a nursery, growing naturally and blooming in their timely period? And which plants came from a forcing florist organization brought to bloom by chemicals and other artificial means?

The nursery grown plants will probably survive to bloom another day and the ones that have been forced will probably fold their wings and fade away. No matter which plants you received, it is always good gardening to aim for survival. It stands to reason that either of these have been nurtured in sheltered and protected spots. So, select the same environment in your own garden and hope for the best. Shelter is most necessary for any newly born growing shrub, and each shrub should be carefully considered.

At this season, the Easter lily is the most popular. This nomenclature, Easter lily, covers myriad varieties. The one we are most familiar with is technically called Lilium longiflorum. (If that makes any difference to you.) Give this plant a sheltered spot with plenty of sun and it might survive year after year. The azalea is the next popular, and this fellow is the trickiest of them all. Azalea is an acid plant, requiring shade with very little sun.

Now comes the tricky part of planting gift flowers in one's garden. First and foremost, the soil must be worked at least two feet deep. This business of shoveling dirt out of a hole and plumping in a new plant is anathema. The roots must have room to expand. Carefully remove plant from container, and then cut off at least one inch from bottom of root system. With fingers, feather all roots that have started upward in the pot, for these upward growing roots are the beginning of pot-bound. Loosen the soil all around the young plant and it will have a chance of survival.

If any of you are fortunate enough to have received a blooming miniature rose bush, the polyanthus or multi-flora varieties, you are in luck.

Now you want to ask me how to differentiate between the hot house raised plants and the natural grown plant. Well . . . . . I dunno.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Humanity's need of spiritual growth and progress will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" is the Golden Text from I Corinthians (15:53): "This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (265:5): "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, — they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, — in order that sin and mortality may be put off."

Scriptural selections to be read include the following from Psalms (89:15): "Blessed is the people that know the joyful sound: they shall walk, O Lord, in the light of thy countennance."

W. W. Dufur

Woffard W. Dufur, former Carmel police officer, died Sunday evening in his San Francisco home of a heart attack. He was a special agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Mr. Dufur was born in Colorado on May 7, 1917. He came as a young child with his family to live in Watsonville and received his education in the Watsonville public schools.

He moved to Carmel after his schooling was completed and was employed in the grocery business before becoming a member of the Carmel Police Force in 1941.

As a police officer Mr. Dufur attended the FBI National Academy in 1947 and resigned from the Carmel police force in 1950 to become a special agent in the San Francisco FBI office.

During the years Mr. Dufur, known affectionately as "Dufe," lived here he was particularly interested in the youth of Carmel. He was one of the founders and members of the board of directors of the Boys' Club, later to become the Youth Center. He organized the merchants on Dolores Street to give the first community Hallowe'en party for Carmel children. This party was later taken over by Carmel Kiwanis Club and is an annual affair. "Dufe" Dufur also helped organize night softball in Carmel and was a member of the Pine Cone's first team in the A-division league. He was instrumental in installing lights for the league at the Sunset School Field.

Survivors are his wife, Elizabeth; a son, Wayne; and a daughter, Sandra, all living in San Francisco; his mother, Mrs. Rose Elia of San Jose and Watsonville; four brothers, Leroy Dufur of Carmel and Lonnie, Glen and Curtis Dufur of San Francisco; three sisters, Mrs. Maxine Jensen of Watsonville, Mrs. Udelle Painter of San Jose and Mrs. Jeannine Smith of Placerville; and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the White Mortuary in Watsonville, followed by burial in the Watsonville Cemetery.

ing Inspector will learn about the building codes, help prepare permits and make building inspections, while the student City Attorney prepares legislation for the Student City Council.

At noon all Youth in Government Day participants, including adults, are to be the guests of August Nieto for lunch at Su Vecino Restaurant.

After lunch students report to City Hall at 1:30 o'clock for briefing on the Student City Council. Student department heads will tell student councilmen commissioners what their respective departments have to bring before the student council meeting in the evening. The various student councilmen will instruct the student city attorney to prepare resolutions.

Student City officials return to work in their offices at 2:00 o'clock while adult department heads instruct student city councilmen in the operations of their departments and take the students on field trips to familiarize them with the work of each department.

The Student City Council and Student Street Superintendent will make a tour of inspection around Carmel at 3:30 o'clock with Councilman James Buffington. Matters later to come before the regular council will be pointed out to the students on the tour while they are busy on projects for their own meeting. At 7:30 o'clock all student city officers and officials will gather at the City Hall for briefing before the meeting.

The regular council meets at 8:00 o'clock in a brief adjourned session to welcome the Youth in Government Council then gives their seats to the students and the fun begins. Until 9:30 o'clock Youth in Government will take over Carmel and give their ideas of what should be done in the city. Their resolutions and other actions, as adopted, will be passed directly to the regular City Council at its meeting on June 5 with hope that the Youth in Government ideas may be carried out.

A complete tape recording of the student council meeting will be made for use in State and Local Government classes at the High School.

Students active in organizing Youth in Government Day were Diana Burk, Robin Wilstach, Nancy McKay, Buzz Richardson and John Stuefloten.

TO RECEIVE DEGREE

Captain Roy Kaminske of 450 W Carmel Valley Road, Carmel Valley, will be receiving the Bachelor of Science Degree in Military Science, having completed requirements for the degree at the Army Education Center in Bad Kreuznach, an Army base located in Germany. He also attended Maryland classes at the Pentagon and Bolling AFB in Washington, D.C., and at the Air Force Education Center in Wiesbaden, Germany.

He entered the Army in February, 1943, at Rochester, New York, and was a student at the Army Language School in Monterey, before going overseas in August, 1954.

For scholastic achievement, he has been named to the Overseas Program Dean's List three times.

Capt. Kaminske is married and has one daughter, Susan. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Kaminske, reside at 312 Sixth Street, Rochester 5, New York.

Two Singers, Trumpet Players For Symphony

Mrs. Perry made her home in Carmel until her husband returned from overseas, now spends week ends here with her parents and two sons, Bruce, six years old and Clifford, eight.

Jean Canada is to sing Gustav Mahler's Kinder Totenlieder (Death of An Infant.) She has appeared on television over Channel 8, on the radio from Station KIDD and is soloist at St. John's Chapel, Del Monte. Mrs. Canada appeared this year as soloist with the Carmel Chamber Music Society and sang contralto solos in the Messiah at Sunset School under Gilbert Boyer.

Her husband, Lieut. Robert Canada, has been in Korea with the Army since last August. He met Mrs. Canada when stationed in Germany. Her former home was in Coburg, Bavaria. Mrs. Canada has two sons, Tommy, 12, and Pierre, 21 months old. She works in Carmel at Merle's Treasure Chest and at Kramer's.

"I can work and sing, too," says Jean Canada," because my mother, Mrs. Margarete Kelm, has come from Germany to live with me, and she helps take care of the boys."

Edward Haug and Terry McCormack will play the solos in Manfridini's Trumpet Concerto, on Monday's Symphony program. Also on the program for the last Symphony concert this season is Brahms Symphony in E minor, No. 4 and Greek Dances by composer Nicos Skalkottas.

A LETTER . . .

April 28, 1957.

Dear Mr. Graves:

It was indeed kind of you to review in the Carmel Pine Cone my Autumn Across America. We had hoped to call on you when we reached the Monterey Peninsula. You were one of the people on my list but, as sadly happened in a number of places along the way, time ran out too soon. We hope to get away on the long summer trip this year. It will end in the Colorado Rockies and will not bring us to the coast again. Of all the places we have seen, in all the states of the Union, we think the Monterey Peninsula is the finest. We envy you your location on this planet!

Sincerely,

Edwin Way Teale

Multiple Listing SERVICE

The reason that MLS came into being was to provide better Service to those buying and selling homes.

We have told you how MLS works. 36 Realtors pool their listings, giving the buyer a broader selection than he could get at any one realtor, and giving the seller the advantage of 36 sales organizations.

A total of 150 sales persons are constantly informed of all sales made and properties offered for sale.

But there is more to MLS than that. It gives MLS Realtors a broader acquaintance with the current market, and a better gauge for judging the right price for a home.

A better informed realtor is able to give buyer or seller better realty service.
If your property is located in the following areas under the Carmel Real Estate Board jurisdiction it is wise for you to list MLS with a Carmel Realtor:

Mission Tract — La Loma Terrace
Walker Tract — Carmel Highlands
Hatton Fields — Carmel Valley
Carmel Woods — Carmel Hills
Carmel Meadows

Just another reason why it's wise to use a realtor who is a member of . . .
